Carson opens his race win account for the season

🕒 23/05/2018 👤 NkjpMcQ841969 📁 Alpine Skiing 💬 0

Sam Carson made the most of the impending exam season to take the win in the second of the British Ski Academy sponsored GBR Indoor races. Carson was fastest on both runs ahead of Ollie Weeks taking second and Robbie Anderson following up his strong race one performance to take third. Toby Case and Tom Rascagneres rounded out the top five finishers. William Austin backed up his impressive race one performance with another strong result that will see him start further up the field after the next seed points list is published as he took sixth.

Carson knew that he had more to lose than gain with Rob Holmes not racing due to impending exams starting on the Monday after the race. The saying you can only beat who is in the race is very apt but Carson did not let this worry him as he posted the fastest time on both runs to win by almost seven-tenths of a second.

Weeks overhauled Robbie Anderson to take second in the race with a determined second run. Weeks took half a second off Anderson who only just managed to hold on to third place as Toby Case put in a vastly improved second run to take fourth overall, edging out Tom Rascagneres. If the first race had seen little movement in the top five finishers, the second race was full of movement as mistakes and improved runs took effect.

William Austin underlined his first race result to finish sixth while Alex Davies and Jack Upton had one good run each and one poor run. Davies was impressive on the first run while Upton produced the goods on the second run, posting the fifth fastest time.

Carson now leads the both the Indoor and Overall series for the GBR Series with Weeks in second (he leads the Outdoor standings after winning in Stoke). Case is in third in the Indoor series and Austin's fine performances over the weekend have seen him move into fourth in the Overall standings.

The age groups were won by Joshua Barfoot (under 14, 14th Overall), Robbie Anderson (Under 16, 3rd Overall), Ollie Weeks (Under 18, 2nd Overall), Sam Carson (Under 21, Race Winner), and Alex Mollie (Masters, 13th Overall).
